WELCOME TO MEDIMUN

It is with great pleasure that we invite you to the 20th Annual Session of the Mediterranean Model United Nations (MEDIMUN) taking place on the 7th to the 9th of February 2024 in Nicosia.

We look forward to welcoming you to this year's MEDIMUN! In this prospectus, we hope you find everything you need so as to familiarise yourselves with all that the MEDIMUN experience entails.

In light of evolving social constructs, everchanging political dynamics, arising conflicts and the transformative impact of technology on institutions, this year's MEDIMUN theme of 'Adapting to today's tomorrow: Diplomacy in a divided world' proves paramount. As we observe changes in ways of international collaboration and the reinvention of contemporary norms, we aim for participants to embrace a theme that not only acknowledges but actively facilitates these ongoing developments, reestablishing diplomacy, while amplifying the silent voices of nations worldwide.

Background Info

MEDIUM MUN

MEDIUM MUN is a United Nations simulation for teenagers aged 15-19. Students assume the role of delegates, representatives of a UN Member State which has been assigned to them and discuss, construct, and debate resolutions after extensive research into their allocated country's policies. These resolutions or documents detailing their suggestions and solutions to world issues provide the basis for multifaceted debate and constructive discussions on varied topic areas. MEDIUM MUN is an accredited THIMUN conference, which approves similar conferences held around the globe, in which young people have the opportunity to gain knowledge not only of individual countries, but also of the function of the United Nations through a hands-on experience. Directors, usually teachers, are responsible for the training of delegates and leading the delegation of students with reference to the 'Parliamentary Procedure' of the UN which helps to ensure that debate takes place in a formal setting. MEDIUM MUN is the largest and oldest MUN conference in Cyprus and is run on a not-for-profit basis by volunteers.

THE CITY OF NICOSIA

Nicosia is the capital of Cyprus and the island's economic and cultural centre. Relatively small, Nicosia boasts a medieval walled city, countless historical and religious monuments and an increasingly diverse population. The size of the city also deems it very safe as well as easy to navigate on foot, while also offering a uniquely multi-cultural setting for the MUN conference. Visitors can wander the meandering Venetian streets and pedestrianised areas which are filled with tiny shops and cafes. Multiple museums showcase every aspect of Cyprus' varied history, from antiquity to the British colonial period.

MEDIUMMUN Experience

Established in 2006, MEDIUMMUN is the pioneering Model United Nations conference in Cyprus, offering a weekend filled with high-standard debate sessions in a professional environment. Participants engage in profound discussions and networking in a multicultural setting, mastering complex global issues.

Accredited by the THIMUN foundation, MEDIUMMUN embodies diversity and unity, leveraging Cyprus' unique position at the crossroads of three continents.

TWENTY YEARS OF MEDIUMMUN HISTORY

Over 20 years of legacy

400+ student delegates from Cyprus and worldwide annually

A dedicated student-led organising team of approximately 100 individuals

Why Participate

BEING A DELEGATE - A UN SIMULATION

The MEDIUMMUN conference follows a United Nations-style framework, with delegates adhering to designated debate procedures, formal terms, and voting practices.

PREPARATION

A morning workshop on Saturday, November 18th, will acquaint participants with essential rules and conference structure. Refer to the Delegates' Handbook on our website under "Resources" for in-depth information. Please read it before attending the Workshop.

Following the Workshop, delegates research their committee-assigned issues and the policies of their represented countries, adopting a genuine UN diplomat's stance.

RESOLUTION WRITING

Delegates draft resolutions after in-depth issue research. During the conference, they refine their ideas through discussions and merge aspects of different resolutions into one. The Student Officer Team offers guidance, and the Approval Panel approves merged resolutions. Approved resolutions undergo debate and voting.

Participation in MEDIUMMUN offers numerous benefits

- Intensive research to acquire specialised knowledge.
- Enhanced English language skills due to precision and formality in official documents.
- Fosters unity, tolerance, and respect for diversity.

Lectures, Venue & The Debate

20

Lectures

MEDIMUN is truly a one-of-a-kind experience for students, offering them a unique opportunity to broaden their horizons and deepen their understanding of current affairs, complex issues, and significant global conflicts.

During the conference, you can look forward to informative lectures delivered by experts. These lectures will cover topics relevant to each committee, allowing delegates to engage in discussions, ask questions, and gain deeper insights. Our past lecturers have come from diverse backgrounds, including academia, journalism, politics, and science. They have consistently inspired and motivated students, encouraging them to shape their perspectives on pressing global issues.

Venue

The European University of Cyprus serves as our conference venue, providing well-equipped meeting rooms that create a professional environment for delegates to work in. Please note that we do not provide accommodation for schools, whether they are located within or outside of Nicosia. But you can find accommodation suggestions in our website.

Debate

MEDIMUN offers participants a valuable opportunity to hone their public speaking and persuasive skills through spirited debates. With a diverse range of committees, including the four General Assembly Committees, the Historical Security Council, the Security Council, and the Commission on the Status of Women, we cover a wide spectrum of themes and topics. This ensures that every participant's interests are catered to, sparking excitement and passion for lively debates.

The Agenda

A comprehensive list of the topics and issues to be debated at MEDIUMMUN's 20th annual session

To participate in special committees, such as the Security Council, Historical Security Council, International Court of Justice, schools can enroll for a maximum of 2 additional delegate spaces, and the students will be accordingly allocated to the mentioned three committees. # Historical Security Council (HSC)

In an attempt to highlight the importance of learning from the past and avoiding all those errors which have cost the world dearly, MEDIMUN includes the Historical Security Council (HSC) in its committees. The HSC is essentially a simulation of the Security Council, but instead of discussing current topics of the world agenda, it revisits old problems and considers all the aspects related to them as if they were happening now.

The HSC discussions are based on historical facts; yet participants will be required to formulate their own solutions to the topics on the agenda without considering the eventual outcome as this actually happened.

This committee will most strongly appeal to creative delegates with a particular interest in world history. Previous MUN Experience is necessary for this committee.

Topic One:

The Cuban Missile crisis 1962

Topic Two:

The Sino-Indian war 1962

SPECIAL COMMITTEES

Security Council (SC)

The Security Council is the most powerful element of the United Nations. Its purpose is to maintain international peace and security in accordance with the principles of the UN, investigating any disputes that could lead to international conflict. With the existence of a threat to peace, the Council could take military action against an aggressor, or call for the Member States to apply measures which do not involve force, such as economic sanctions. The Council also formulates plans for the establishment of a system to regulate armaments.

Previous MUN Experience is necessary for this committee.
